Lesson for September 28

REVIEW—THE GREATNESS OF THE GOD-FEARING

GOLDEN TEXT—The fear of Jehovah is the beginning of wisdom; a good understanding have all they that do His commandments. His praise is continually in the hearts of the God-fearing. TOPIC—What Makes People Great? INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPICS—What Makes Men and Women Great? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPICS—As Estimates of the Characters of Men and Women.

Lesson for July 6. When called to go out from his own country and kindred, and from his home, he obeyed his command. True faith is proved by unquestioned obedience.

Lesson for July 13. Jacob, a crafty schemer, through discipline, God's hands, became Israel, a prince with God. Before he could enter the promised land, he must take place. Self-will must be broken before he can be confident in God.

Lesson for July 20. Moses, educated first at his mother's knee and then at Pharaoh's court, was forced to flee from Egypt, because of a premature effort to deliver the enslaved people. Forty years of training in the wilderness was necessary before he was ready to hear God's call.

Lesson for July 27. In the time of national emergency, there being no man to judge Israel, Deborah was called to take place. God bestows his grace upon whomsoever he will, regardless of sex.

Lesson for August 3. Each chose to cast her lot with God's people. This choice brought her not only salvation but earthly blessings. Ruth's relationship to Naomi shows the vital fellowship centered in the God of Israel. National pride, hatred, and strife disappear on the part of those who are united in Jesus Christ.

Lesson for August 10. Hannah asked God to give her a son, promising to dedicate him to God's service. God heard her prayer and she named her son Samuel, which means "asked of God." Samuel in his childhood was given to God, and he rendered a distinguished service for many years.

Lesson for August 17. Saul was a man of fine gifts and had a great opportunity, but he was not right toward God. He had more concern for his own honor and welfare than for the glory of God. God is more concerned with having his commands obeyed than he is with the offering of sacrifices.

Lesson for August 24. Friendship between David and Jonathan has been immortalized. This place between two men of great character. Jonathan was the natural heir to the throne, but David was God's choice. Jonathan knew this and magnanimously waited his rights.

Lesson for August 31. Anson, a humble, hardworking man, was called from his life as God's prophet to stand before the king. He was a prophet by succession, not by training in the school. God selects his servants from even the humblest walks of life.

Lesson for September 7. Josiah, the young king, was loyal to God. Two wicked kings had preceded him, during whose reigns God's law was lost. God put it into his heart to inaugurate a reformation, and in the process of restoring the temple, the law was found. When it was found, the king sent his men to collect the law, and proceeded to institute his reforms on the basis of God's word.

Lesson for September 14. Jeremiah, having heard God's call to his life, early years, zealously carried out his ministry. He called upon individuals to face their responsibility before God, assuring them that they would not be judged on the basis of their race or heritage. Every man shall give an account of himself to God.

Lesson for September 21. Jonah, a Jew, was called to preach repentance to a people who were bent upon their iniquity. He fled from his responsibility by fleeing to Tarshish. God prepared a way to swallow him, and his means of his chastisement and return to his own land. After chastisement, there was reconciliation. At last, preaching the king repented, putting on their sackcloth and ashes. God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

Revealed in the Divine Book. That I am I to Jesus Christ, revealed to me in his divine Book—David Livingstone.

Sunshine. Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.—M. M. Bartie.

Defending the Bible. Spurgeon said: "You talk about defending the Bible! It's like a lion open the cage and let it out!"

Job work done at this office.

Rocky News

Mr. Goodman Ranson and family, and Mr. D. W. Dinkins and family spent Sunday in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garrett had as their dinner guests Mr. W. C. W. Dinkins, of Lynchburg, Mrs. Russell Paul and two children, of New Holland, Mr. Howard Dickerson, of Lynchburg, visited his aunt, Mrs. Frank Ranson for the week-end.

I guess the travelers of Hixburg Road will be glad to learn that the good people of the community, with aid from the county are greasing a portion of this dirt road.

A young lady was walking up the street one morning, she was hailed by a small boy, who said, "where is your dog?" The lady answered, "honey, I have a cat not a dog." He said, "that dog you wear around your neck this lady had been wearing a fox fur, see."

Woodland

Vacation days are over and school days are here again. Our school opened up with Miss V. A. Morris as teacher. She is boarding with Mrs. W. Woodson.

Miss Virginia Woodson is teaching at Petty's Fork.

Messrs. Waldo and Walter have returned to their home in Nashville, Tenn., to take up their school work for the following term. We shall miss them from our community.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harvey and children, of Dillwyn, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harvey and children, of Phenix, were week-end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey.

They attended the Fair at Appomattox.

Miss Celene Woodson has returned home after spending the summer at Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Hamner Coleman, of Lynchburg, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coleman.

Misses Virginia and Mary Woodson were week-end visitors of Miss Caroline Reams, of near Phenix.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Driscoll, Jr., of W. W. Driscoll, Jr., of Clyde Jackson and Miss Jane Woodson attended the funeral of Mrs. Jim Lee Sunday afternoon at the Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Lee was buried in the cemetery. Mrs. Lee was a devoted wife and mother. She lived here until about eleven years ago, when she moved to Evergreen. While living here she was a member of Reedy Springs Church and her Christian influence will be remembered.

Englishman Weds on Chimney Top

London.—A London newspaper disclosed he would like to be married on the top of a factory chimney on which he had been working. A woman who had been working on the chimney was constructed near the top and the bride and bridegroom, together with the best man and the minister, ascended to it by an iron ladder.

In this draughty position hundreds of feet above the ground, the ceremony was performed without a hitch.

Rob Butcher; Use His Gasoline for Getaway

Engene, Ore.—Thieves broke into a market here, carried off a quarter of beef, 20 gallons of hard in small pots, a 15 gallon keg of pigs feet and then refilled from the butcher's supply of gasoline.

Hawaii Called Ideal for Growing Oysters

Honolulu, Hawaii.—Commercial oyster culture, as a practical industry for Hawaii is advocated by Dr. Paul S. Galtsoff, of the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce, who has been making a preliminary survey of fisheries.

Galtsoff has viewed samples of pearl oysters taken from Pearl Harbor and Kaneohe Bay, Oahu, and from Pearl and Hermes reefs, in the uninhabited archipelago to the north-west.

Galtsoff said the oysters from Pearl and Hermes reef were transplanted in the water of Oahu.

Galtsoff also disclosed that Australian oysters brought here from the Great Barrier reef in 1928 at the instance of the navy and agriculture board, are multiplying rapidly and seem to find ideal conditions in the shallow waters where they were planted.

Galtsoff declared that he believed American and Japanese oysters can be successfully grown in Hawaii.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coleman, son, Mr. and Mrs. George Fogers and grandson, of Lynchburg, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Leila Banton.

Mrs. H. C. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Beasley and Miss Mary Covington spent Tuesday in Lynchburg securing new lamps for Hollywood church.

Mr. Jimmie Gillis, of Richmond, spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. R. S. Jenkins.

Dr. Broomfield, of the Southern District, visited the school here Tuesday and stated that he would be back on October 31 to give the tox-in-antitoxin to all who wished to take it. He is especially anxious for all children between ages of six months and five years to take it.

Mr. J. R. Lee

Agnes the death angel has visited our community and carried away our dear beloved sister, Mrs. J. R. Lee.

Oh how she waited so patiently for this visitor. How she planned and prepared for his great journey into that great beyond.

So anxious was she for this guiding angel to come for her that we who love her and will miss her so can never mourn for her. Through all her intense suffering during her eighteen months she would only smile and say to her loved ones, "What is suffering? It does not amount to the drop of a hat. The life will soon come for my spirit."

Mrs. Armanda E. Arrington was born and raised in this county. At the age of eight she gave her life to God. At the age of sixteen she was married to Mr. J. R. Lee also a native of this county. Five children were born into this home. Only three remain living. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Driscoll, Jr., of W. W. Driscoll, Jr., of Clyde Jackson and Miss Jane Woodson attended the funeral of Mrs. Jim Lee Sunday afternoon at the Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Lee was buried in the cemetery. Mrs. Lee was a devoted wife and mother. She lived here until about eleven years ago, when she moved to Evergreen. While living here she was a member of Reedy Springs Church and her Christian influence will be remembered.

Will Mussolini Fall?
Does a Tariff Matter?
To Fly High.
France Worried, but Ready.

George Seldes, able newspaper man, returns from Europe predicting "Mussolini's fall from power with his Fascist government tumbling about his ears within a year."

Revolution will do the job, says Mr. Seldes, and Mussolini's enemies at home are preparing it. He thinks Mussolini must plunge Italy into war, to save the Fascist regime.

VETS TO PAY FOR NEXT JOFFRE STATUE

Marshal Wants Service Men to Contribute Funds.

Paris, France.—Marshal Jacques Cassin, victor over the invading Germans at the Marne river, refuses to have another statue erected in his honor unless it is financed by the soldiers he formerly commanded. A limit of one franc apiece, approximately four cents, is the maximum which any ex-service man can contribute.

For some time there has been action for construction of a monument to the savior of the Marne at three sites, in the department of the oriental Pyrenees, where the marshal was born seventy-eight years ago.

M. Rene Mannat, under-secretary of the interior, was charged to ask Marshal Joffre's permission for erection of the impendable and forever immortal monument.

The old marshal smiled grimly and told the government agent he would consent only on the condition that every cent of the money be collected by voluntary subscription from the allied soldiers in his stipendiary.

The monument is now being erected by the famous French artist, Mailland, and it is expected it will be dedicated before the end of the year.

Russia believes in thoroughness. Six Russian officials were suspected of "counter-revolutionary" activities. When started in big Government buildings, pretending to put the fire out, they encouraged it. A laconic official announced that three of them have been shot, three sent to prison for long terms.

France, evidently, is convinced that her first trouble will come from Italy, and seeks alternately to placate and terrify the impendable and forever immortal Mussolini.

Concerning that powerful leader, the marshal is said to have uttered so long the terrific strains of gigantic responsibility.

A greater marvel is, that with should power and to many attacks on his life, he has ruled so moderately.

It is not that a tariff can protect labor, ask Henry Ford when he returns from France.

He used to "assemble" cars in France, sending the various parts fitted, putting them together. Hereafter he will manufacture the entire car in France, inside the French high tariff wall.

Thus, when a Frenchman buys a Ford car he will pay nothing but French labor, with a small payment for Ford's brains.

Free traders might meditate on that.

Tratt recently a public school in Oklahoma City had 1,000 pupils absorbing knowledge.

Now the pupils are gone and in the front yard a "gusher" is spitting 65-70 barrels of oil a day. The well belongs to the city and will pay for schools able to educate many times as many pupils.

This should be a happy country, since it is only complaint that we have too much of everything.

Parker has built, secretly, an airplane with its motors in the wing. It needed for pursuit plane work. He used to "assemble" cars in France, sending the various parts fitted, putting them together. Hereafter he will manufacture the entire car in France, inside the French high tariff wall.
